Description

Express has come up with a new product that offers roofers a container for flux with integrated brush.

With catalogue number 9647, you will no longer need to worry about flux becoming oxidised in contact with air or polluted by zinc or tin particles. Thanks to its integrated brush, you can apply the exact amount of flux needed for the job and then protect it from dust by closing the container with ease.

This bottle for flux, with its integrated brush, makes the work of a roofer much simpler.
